This is a paragraph of text. Back then, we used the strong tag for bold and italic tag for emphasis.

Understanding Semantic HTML

Below is an example of an unordered list, which was one of the few ways to create vertical spacing:

- Structure (using tables)
- Meaning (using headers)
- Accessibility (alt text on images)

Data was always presented in bordered tables:

Name	Position	Office
Jane Doe	Software Engineer	Remote
John Smith	Product Manager	New York
